Canada Taylor Parker
Suicide Prevention
Coordinator, Equity
Committee Co-Chair

Canada Taylor Parker serves at the co-chair of the Multnomah County Behavioral Health Equity Committee while working as the Suicide Prevention County at the county. Canada was a recipient of the 2021 Trillium Mental Health Hero Award and has worked for the past 18 years in behavioral healthcare, with roles ranging from direct patient care to program management. Whether working with specific communities or the broader public, Canada has been able to integrate equity and inclusion work in creative ways into her workplace.

Mandy Kubisch
Behavioral Health Prevention
Coordinator, Member of PARA (Practitioners of Anti-Racist Allyship)

Mandy Kubisch (she/her/hers) is a Behavioral Health Prevention Coordinator at Multnomah County and a member of PARA, Practitioners of Anti-Racist Allyship. Mandy has a long history of program development and management, working with people in crisis in a variety of settings and utilizing anti-racist theory and equity framework as well as voices with lived experience into the work she does. Mandy considers herself a life-long learner and believes that Diversity, Equity and Inclusion are not places to arrive to or master, but instead, things to constantly center, strive for and continually learn about.
